

Enclose Your Fun with Safety

By David Jones

A trampoline enclosure is none other than a net that is placed around the trampoline. That way, if someone makes an incorrect jump, he will bounce against the net instead of falling to the ground.

A trampoline is a device that almost everyone enjoys, since they provide tons of fun and can be an excellent toy and exercise machine. Unfortunately, falling from a trampoline is no fun. You may cause serious harm to yourself, or even worse, your children could be the ones affected. So, is there some way to protect yourself and your loved ones from these potential accidents? Yes, a trampoline enclosure is the solution for you.

Our Trampoline Enclosure Parts were manufactured by Hedstrom to fit their enclosures. However, we are confident that, with a bit of adjustment, most of these parts will work with trampolines manufactured by other brands.

Available Enclosure Parts are as follows:

Enclosure Replacement Net

The Hedstrom trampoline enclosure replacement nets are designed to fit Hedstrom enclosures perfectly, but these nets can fit any brand of enclosure with various adjustments. The nets are woven from UV-resistant and durable polypropylene and are lined with elastic along the perimeter to ensure a snug fit.

Sizes: These nets are available for 14-ft, 13-ft, and 12-ft round trampolines.

Enclosure Pole Foam Sleeves

Enclosure Pole Foam Sleeves are made of mildew-resistant, high-density foam. These sleeves are 44 inches long, 1/2 inch thick, with an inside diameter of 1.5 inches. These foam sleeves are easily cut to fit any length of enclosure support pole making them useful for many different enclosure brands. Colors: Blue, Black & Yellow as shown.
